Custom Tile Project for the Gollestan Foundation in the

The Exclusive world of Balian Ceramic Tiles

In 1918, a master Armenian ceramist Neshan Balian Sr., my grandfather, was brought over to Jerusalem by the British Mandate Government to renovate the ceramic tiles of the Dome of the Rock. After doing some of the renovations he established a ceramic studio producing exquisite hand painted tiles and pottery. The studio exists to the present day and still manufactures tile art second to none in terms of beauty and artistic quality.

Apart from painting the tiles which you see in this catalogue, our specialty is in working with clients, designers and specifiers to do custom designs to fulfill all of their design requirements.

We are also at the forefront of ceramic technology and have several specialized systems from Europe allowing us to produce digitally reproduced ceramic tiles. This new exciting field allows us to reproduce any digital image given to us to be copied on true fired ceramic tiles.

With new studios now in Amman, Jordan and Beirut, Lebanon we are introducing this unique form of art to the whole Middle Eastern region.

Feel free to get in touch with us for any of your decorative tile needs and to visit our web site at www.armenianceramics.com.
